The Moving Picture Boy entry:

““Conrad was a delightfully unglamorous boy who radiated humour and common sense. Hugh (Dewey) Binyon – a few outings with OUR GANG – was probably his elder brother, and the director and writer Claude Binyon his father. One of his best parts came as a Russian boy fighter in "THE BOY FROM STALINGRAD".

Having been in "BLUE SIERRA", "COURAGE OF LASSIE" and "THE GOLDEN JOURNEY" in 1946, Binyon returned in 1950 with "MY BLUE HEAVEN", "SENTENCE SUSPENDED" and the snappily titled "MILITARY ACADEMY WITH THAT 10TH AVENUE GANG". This was enough to finish anyone's screen career, and it seems to have finished Conrad's. ”

No name check on the poster, but he's right up there – a "gallant little Yank" – with the star of the show
