Excerpt from The Golden Age of Child-ren's Television:

"Animals were also an essential part of the fifties show "Circus Boy" starring Mickey Braddock, later better known as Mickey Dolenz of "The Monkees". He played Corky, a twelve-year old orphan (didn't any American kids have parents?) adopted by Big Tim Champion's travelling circus. His con-stant companions were Bimbo the baby elephant and Joey the clown, played by Noah Beery Jr some twenty years before "The Rockford Files"... "
