The Moving Picture Boy entry:

“The blond Darko – a sterner version of John Howard Davies – had the lead in Bato Čengić’s "MALI VOJNICI", an impressive film set in a home for waifs at the end of World War Two. He had a complex role as a German orphan mortally threatened by his vengeful fellow-inmates. The children, led by the grim teenager "Bomber" (Sead Cakal) are excellent.”
