It's not every boy who is blessed with the name Geronimo. Here he is (left) with Andrea Sciré. It's not every boy who is lumbered with the name Andrea, either.

Excerpt from The Moving Picture Boy entry on Andrea Sciré:

“Franco Rossi’s "AMICI PER LA PELLE" - known to the English-speaking public as "FRIENDS FOR LIFE" - is a remarkable, deeply-felt study of a schoolboy friendship: emotionally intense, but completely without sensuality. The extrovert Mario, son of a ceramic artist, befriends a new boy who arrives at his school: Franco, the shy, serious son of a diplomat. Theirs is a relationship of opposites, with Franco hopelessly vulnerable to Mario’s bouncy insensitivity. What finally shatters it is an act of spite by Mario, betraying a secret about Franco’s dead mother after his intellectual friend has, somewhat improbably, beaten him in a long-distance race.

Geronimo Meynier (born 5th July 1941) is brilliant as the attractive, affectionate but shallow Mario. Meynier went on to become a leading young actor in Italy in the Sixties. He was in "AMORE E CHIACCHIERE" (57),

"IL COCCO DI MAMMA" (57),
"RAGAZZI DELLA MARINA" (58),
"VACANZE D'INVERNO" (59), "IL
MAGISTRATO" (59), "LA GRANDE
GUERRA" (It/Fr 59) and many more, including Renzo Rossellini's Italian episode of
"LOVE AT TWENTY" (Fr/It/Jp/De/Pl 62) and "GIULIETTA E ROMEO" (It/Es 64 - as Romeo). He has now retired."
