Born: Great Britain; c1945

The Moving Picture Boy entry:

“The distinguished-looking Richard was, briefly, Britain’s best boy actor at the end of the 1950s – playing leads like Jim Hawkins and Ronnie Winslow on TV – but apart from the lead in "TREASURE AT THE MILL" (for the Children’s Film Foundation) he didn’t get enough opportunity in the cinema. He abandoned his acting career, and many years later was working for IBM.”
