The Moving Picture Boy entry:

"Like Edoardo Gervasio, the elegant, humorous Marco made his debut in "IL FERROVIERE". He went on to make fewer films but with more glamorous roles, notably as the adventurous heroes of the oft-filmed "DAGLI APPENNINI ALLE ANDE" and "LAZARILLO DE TORMES". Paoletti made at least one further appearance [after 1959], in "SAUL E DAVID" (Italy/Spain 65)."

What the Critics said:

In "EL LAZARILLO DE TORMES":

"...A mildly satirical but otherwise stolid morality tale, enlivened by the young Italian actor's performance and an impeccable recreation of 17th-century Castille."

— Bloomsbury Foreign Film Guide

"...A thoroughly charming tale which includes a number of comical scenes."

Paoletti is a lot of fun and a strikingly handsome boy. ” – CVMC website
