No further information currently available. Where the fog was, and what they got up to in it, we may never know. Pavitt (13) was a popular British boy actor of the Thirties, notably in "MY FRIEND THE KING" (31) as the eponymous monarch, while Rietti (12), son of Italian director Victor Rietti, seems to have had his most significant screen role in the 1935 remake of "EMIL AND THE DETECTIVES", but starred in London stage versions of "Poil de Carotte" and "The Boy David" (with, inevitably for the time, a female David).
