Halliwell's Television Companion review:

"A short-lived one-hour series for family audiences, about three 11-year olds (one black) and their problems. Rather mechanical and obvious. Created by A J Carothers; for Aaron Spelling/ABC. "

[no listing in "The Golden Age of Children's Television", "History of Television", "Into the Box of Delights - a History of Children's Television", "Television's Greatest Hits" or "25 Years of ITV - 1955-1980"]

No further information currently available. It sounds the lamest imaginable of vehicles in which to drop a shopping list of social "issues" the writers felt suitable for airing (bullying, loyalty, racism, dating, drugs – just fill in the dots). The three names given are presumably the 11-year olds, in which case nothing else is known of any of them.

See subject index under TV SERIES, for want of more concrete information.
