Radio Times notes:

"A six-part comedy drama series. Written by John Coombes and Martin Riley."

"Sequel to "Kevin's Cousins", with adventure and gang rivalry aboard river boats.

1 - It's the end of term - Kevin and Milo visit their new school and make an enemy.

- School's out, and Kevin (Antony Eden) and the Boat Boys get up to no good.

- Kevin, Ian and Milo fear their summer holidays might not be all plain sailing.

6 - Last in the comedy drama. It's the village cricket match but Kevin has other things on his mind. "

What's On TV notes:

"Comedy drama series:

- Lorraine has got too big for her boots, and Kevin must put a stop to it.

6 - Last in the comedy drama series. The village cricket match is in full swing. But Kevin has a more exciting afternoon in mind.”

L to R: Benji Gerstein, Anthony Eden (Kevin) and Carl Ferguson

No further information currently available. Sort of a "SWALLOWS & AMAZONS" for the nineties, by the sound of it. I have an idea that Anthony Eden did a stint as Nestlé's "Milky Bar Kid" (a long-running TV chocolate commercial character) before landing this series, but cannot confirm this.

See also the first series, "Kevin's Cousins", and subject index under BOATS / FISHING, COMEDY, FOLLOW-THE-LEADER (children's gangs), SERIALISATIONS and SPORT.
