

Stick With Me, Kid

US TV series : 19 : dir. : Disney (?) : ? x 60 min
 prod: : scr: : dir.ph.:
Kristopher Milnes
 Leigh Lawson; Louise Jameson; Rosemary Leach; John Gielgud

Ref:	Pages	Sources	Stills	Words	Ω	8	≠	M	⊗	Copy on VHS	Last Viewed
3353a	1	2	1	316	3	-	-	3	-	No	unseen

Radio Times review:

“ "Rip" Hilliard (Kristopher Milnes) is 13 and yearns to be a detective; Grant Logan (Leigh Lawson) is a second-rate actor who once played a 'tec on TV. This unlikely duo team up in a family adventure series which gives a positive and non-patronising view of childhood as well as showing that education can be fun. It features Louise Jameson and Rosemary Leach and distinguished guest stars such as Sir John Gielgud.”

“Detective adventures in a new family drama.”

Daily Mirror note:

“An ambitious thirteen year old detective persuades an actor to be his front man.

- When a con man steals an elderly widow's fortune, Grant and Rip are called in.”

Source: Radio Times

[no listing in "Halliwell's Television Companion", "History of Television" or "Television's Greatest Hits"]

No further information currently available. Sounds cautiously promising. The kid detective with an adult sidekick is a nice switch that will appeal to a young audience, self-empowerment and all that, the "education-can-be-fun!" motif probably less so. Another adventure series with pretensions to promote book-reading, which also had a strong central boy/man duo, was the time travel series "Voyagers!", with Meeno Peluce as the history know-it-all. Time travel yarns are about as hackneyed as kid detective ones these days, though their pedigree is not so long. Broadcast on the Disney Channel, this is presumably a Disney product. Kristopher Milnes also appeared in the children's environmentalist TV serial "Eye of the Storm".

See subject index under DISNEY, ENTERPRISE / YOUNG ENTREPRENEURS, KID DETECTIVES, SPECIAL FRIENDSHIPS and TV SERIES .

