Hearts in Atlantis	US 2001 : Elegiac study of the end of childhood – at eleven! – in 1960 as a fatherless boy (Anton Yelchin) becomes intrigued by mysterious lodger Anthony Hopkins, who feels pursued by “low men”, at the same time as coping with more predictable matters such as the local bully and – big yawwn – his “first love” (Mika Boorem).
It	US TV serial 19~~ : Hugely disappointing rendering of a doorstep of a novel concerning a ubiquitous evil presence which preys on the children of a sleepy midwestern town, generally in the shape of a malevolent Ronald McDonald. After seemingly defeating the presence in childhood, a ragged group of misfits meet again as adults when they find that “It” has re-awakened. The book’s deep sense of foreboding and inhuman menace is utterly dissipated by a slovenly two-part TV movie.
